

For basic information about the requirements of participation for all vendors, please also read the farmers' market application kit thoroughly. All rules and regs apply also to craft vendors including the requirement to attend most if not all of the scheduled markets through October. At this point in the development of the Harbor market, this has become a very important issue for us and we are strictly enforcing this from this point on. Requirements for tents and weights also apply as do the rules governing the look and operation of your business at the market,.

Once you have read through the farmers' market application kit, you may download the crafters' application page from our web site and follow the instructions therein for applying; however, there are some things you need to know about the Harbor market that will be different from last year and that are different from our other markets.

While we will be moving over time to increase and enhance the presence of farm and food vendors in this market, this year we will work to end up with a 50-50 split. The food vendors and the craft vendors will also be separated into two separate areas of America Way and each vendor will have an a permanently assigned location.

It looks now that we will advertise the market as being open from 10:00am–2:00pm but will permit the crafters and any food vendors whom we deem can safely sell their products after a four-hour stint in the heat to sell later than that if the crowds in the Harbor warrant extended hours.

Vendors will be charged a 6% fee on gross sales which will be payable by check monthly by the fifth of each month. More than one late payment will be grounds for removal from the market.

Those are the changes from last year that have been finalized at this point. Please feel free to email me with any questions—even if we do not accept you for the summer market, we will welcome you to the holiday market and possibly for the extended indoor year-round market.
